Private Pudding;

OR HOW THE HOOSIER COME IT. Many years ago a Hoosier who had just struck New Orleans for the first time, after his flathoat was made snug and fast, went up to see the sights of the city. Passing St. Charles he stopped immediately in front of the St. Charles Hotel, and looking up, seemed to scrutinize the building with the eye of an architectu-

After satisfying his gaze he asked of a passer-by what building it was; on being told it was a hotel, he enquired for the entrance, and being told, he ascended the steep steps. Approaching the office, he induired for the landlord, of whom he inquired if he could get "a bite" to cat. Mr. E. R. Mudge, who was the host at that time, and who is a host at all times, humoring the fellow, told him he could do so by paying a dollar. After considering for some time on this item, and gravely looking his host in the face, he said, "Well, I'll go it; thar's my dollar, whar's your dinner!" "Well," said the other, with a smile, "it is not ready yet, but take a seat at the table there. and you can amuse yourself with the papers for half an hour when you will hear the gong which will inform you that dinner is ready." "The gong, what's that?" asked the Hoosier. "Oh, you will find out when you hear it," replied Mudge. Satisfied with this answer, the Hoosier, after looking wildly around him, sat down and rummaged over the papers. Time sped on at its customary rate, when suddenly the gong sounded, and as usual the crowd moved for the dining

Recovering from his astonishment at the noise of the gong, and scenting the delicious fumes of the dinner, the Hoosier made a rush through the crowd for a seat, but being met by the host he was conducted to his allotted chair. The gentlemen seated on each side of him as well as the gentleman opposite him, had their wine before them.

After finishing his soup and having his plate well filled, the Hoosier observed the gentlemen helping themselves freely to wine, and, so, seizing the bottle of his right-hand neighbor, he attempted to help himself, when he was modestly informed that the wine was "private." The Hoosier did not seem to comprehend, and with a blank sort of look, resumed his knife and fork. On laying them down again, and having apparently come to the conclusion that it could not all be "private" wine, he seized hold of his lefthand friend's bottle. 'Stop, if you please, sir,' said the offended individual with a fierce look, 'that is private wine, s r.' The Hoosier looked still more astonished and finding it a hard case, thought he would make another trial any how. So reaching across the table, he seized the bottle opposite to him, and was just in the act of filling his glass, when his vis-a-vis re-echoed, 'private wine, sir, if you please,' and with-drew the bottle from the fearful leakage it was about

The 'green 'un' becoming enraged at being foiled on every side, and observing that there was a general simpering and tittering among the waiters, turned on the servant who stood at the back of his chair, and who had taken away his plate for the fifth or sixth time, and cried out to him with an oath to bring back his plate, and if he took it away again, 'he'd be dod rot if he didn't draw his picker on him,' and, as suiting the action to the word, put his hand into his bosom, showing the handle of a huge bowie-knife. After this, things went on quietly till the desert came upon the table, when a large Charlotte Russe pudding was set right before the Hoosier. This he immediately drew up near his plate, and looking right and left at his neighbors, he helped himself to a large portion of it. Keeping his eyes fixed upon the dish, while eating he perceived his right hand neighbor attempting to withdraw the dish from him. 'No you don't, mister,' said the hoosier to him, 'that thar pudding is private pudding. The left hand gentleman, not observing what had passed, then said, 'Allow me to take this pudding, sir.' No, you can't take that thar puddin', said the hoosier, with a scowl, 'that's private puddin'. And he re-helped himself. Shortly after, the gentleman opposite was in the act of drawing the dish over to him, 'Hold on, Mister,' said the hoosier, with a look of triumph, 'I'd have you know that that puddin' is private puddin', while at the same time he put his thumb to his nose and made sundry gyrations with his fingers. 'You can't come it over me,' he continued, feeling that a joke had been practised upon him. 'Private wine, eh!'

The attention of the table being attracted during the latter scene, the gentlemen around burst into a roar of laughter, and soon the whole story was whispered from one to another. The thing took so well that every gentleman was induced to send his bottle to the hoosier, with his compliments, and our "green 'un" soon became as merry as a lord. Hiccoughing, as he left the table, he turned to the gentleman and said :- "Well, old (hiccough) fellows, you (hiccough) couldn't (hic) come it over me with your (hic) private wine." The glasses fairly danced upon the table with the uproar and laughter which this last remark created, and the hoosier, staggering out of the room, made the best of his way to the boat.

Two of 'EM .- "Scraps," of the Tuscaloosa Observer, is "some punkins" sure, if we may judge from the following laconic correspondence: Scraps used to manage the business of an uncle in Pittsburgh, who among other peculiarities, was ever economical with words. One day the old gentleman, hearing that there was a boat at wharf, by which he wished to make a large shipment of coal, he wrote thus to Scraps: . Dear Scraps:

Yours, NUNCLE. ; board. Scraps beat him, though, at his own game. He wrote back: Dear Nunc:

Yours. SCRAPS. Explanation - Se-mi-col-on, (See my coal on board.) Col-on, (Coal on.)

PATRIOTIC-BY JINKS .- Brother Jenks, of the Lafayette Courier, and wife, are so patriotic, that they reserve all their great doings and "chicken fixens" for the Fourth of July. All extras are especially prepared to come off on the day of the great National festival. This is Mr. Jenks's way of notifying the

would be found out." "Why, then," says Johnson, in that case let him go to some country where he is not known, and not to the devil where he is known." A good story is told by the Belfast Journal of a college professor, as follows: "He was one of your precise men, who measured off sentences as a clerk does choice tape. The good professor took it into his head to relieve the monotony of his existence by an aquatic excursion. The boat was unfortunately capsized near the shore, and he was pot in a fair way to test the virtues of Preissintz's theory. He was averse to making an uncouth outery, and had gone down twice without saying a word, but just as his occiput was disappearing a third time he rolled on his back, and blowing like a porpoise, exclaimed, one will extend to me a rope!" DROLL REPORT .- A committee of the Rhode Island Legislature, on investigating the affairs of the Bank at Scituate, report in conclusion -- Finally, the committee are of the opinion that a machine has been placed in South Scituate, (purporting by its issues to be located in North Scituate,) extending its pipes to Wall street, in the city of New York; and had not timely precaution been taken to prevent it, might have been so inflated by the infusion of the gas of the Merchante' Bank of the city of Providence that if ignited in the former city, it would have blown up the Hamilton Bank in Scituate, with a tremendous explo-

SAVANNAH, Saturday Evening, July 21 .- Information has been received in this city, from Florida, stating that the remaining Seminoles have become hostile, and committed numerous depredations on Indian River in South Florida. From the best information, we learn that in the early part of last week the Indians made an attack on the settlements on Indian River, in St. Lucie county, and commenced plundering the houses and firing on the settlers.

The Indians were in considerable numbers; so much so that a defence by the whites was entirely im-

The settlers were obliged to leave their dwellings and take to the river and come up the coast outside. Some twenty men, women and children have arrived at St. Augustine, who report that others are on

It is reported that despatches have been forwarded to Washington, stating the facts, and likewise that an express had been sent to Tampa by the commanding officer at St. Augustine.

The settlers on the frontier are becoming generally alarmed, and are moving into the larger settlements

The military post of Tampa being the residence of the former Agent, has given the Indians an excuse for coming into the settlements, thereby throwing them into contact with the whites. The Indians are well supplied with arms and amunition, and scattered in small parties throughout the frontier, as they will be, will give serious trouble. THE WAY SOUTHERN NEGROES DIE OF CHOLERA .-All have heard and read the terrible accounts of the loss of negroes by cholera in some of the southern States. Perhaps the following, from a Newport correspondent of the New York Herald, may throw light on some of these mysterious deaths: A thrilling account was given to us the other day in a social circle, by a gentleman just arrived from Louisiana, of the doings of the dire disease on a plantation in that State. The planter to whom the estate in question belonged, received by almost every mail, an account of the heavy losses he was suffering on his plantation. At one time his overseer wrote to him to inform him that Pompey was dead, Juba and Cato, some of his best hands were gone, and Cæsar was dying. Then accounts came that Black Sue was dead, and yellow Jim, and three fingered Jack, and others of familiar names to the afflicted planter. So the mortality went on, and the mail brought daily the account of some death. At length, however, the planter either got wind of the matter, or else his suspicions were excited. He went to his estate, and sure enough, he found it was too true-they were all gone; but not dead, nor by the cholera. They had been carried off by what is called an underground railway, and had been transferred by the overseer to another estate in a neighboring State, where he himself had a plantation, and being only a new beginner, was in want of negroes to carry out his speculation. So much for "terrific mortality." It would be laughable, were it not that deceit and dishonesty universally

in any case, are more serious than cholera, and too serious to laugh at.

A RELIC OF THE BATTLE.—The following article is taken from the published proceedings of a "great Taylor meeting," without distinction of party, held in Knox county, Tenn., on the 11th of June, 1848: "We believe that he, indeed, will be the President of the nation, and not the President of a party. We believe that he will encourage, and not obstruct, the freedom of the elective franchise, by appointing only the honest and capable to public trusts, and by never removing such for the fair expression and maintenance of their private and individual opinions of pubmen and measures; that, like the immortal Washington, he will regard offices within his gift as not belonging to him or to a party, but to the American people, and bestow them upon that principle, and not for mere partizan service. He will put down it is to be hoped, forever, the shameful quadrennial rush to Washington City, of importunate, clamorous, and hungry office-seekers, demanding their share of the spoils; and furnish to them and to his successors the example of a government carefully looking over the whole country, for the purpose of selecting and employing the honest, able, and eminent, who are staying at home and seeking nothing at his hands."

THE WOMEN MOVING .- In the Legislature of Massachusetts, a few days since, a memorial was presented from a large number of females, praying for certain modifications of the existing law of divorce. The tone and temper of the petition are rather extraordinary. We subjoin a few extracts:

"With all due deference, we would ask, where, from what source, in what enlightened age and nation did the men originally obtain the exclusive right to monopolize the privilege of legislating for females. and of compelling them to submit to their laws, however unequal and objectionable they might be? Echo answers where ! The Bible, it is said, gives them the right, because it says. 'Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands in the Lord.' How a wife can submit herself 'in the Lord,' to a man who is 'dead drunk' one half of the time, and a fool the other half, in consequence, from whom she receives only a scanty subsistence, of the meanest description, is more than a woman's wit can devise.

We have ever been viewed, in a political sense, to be an inferior order of beings, totally incompetent to self-government, as the vassals, rather than the companions of men, solely dependent upon them for protection, who have thus far condescended to rule over us, without ever consulting our pleasure or our judgment. Thus have we been led, muzzled and blindfolded, from age to age, from the cradle to the grave.

Award to us our proper station in society; abolish all unjust laws in regard to us; and with the light of the Bible, and our own sense of justice, we will protect and defend ourselves, and each other, with the aid of an enlightened community, which, to their immortal henor be it said, is far in advance of the musty laws that have long disgraced our statute books. Should we, by legislative enactments, receive no redress, upon our own strength, then, must we stand or fall, there being but one alternative left. Better that this earth be depopulated, than that the iniquities of the present and the past be visited upon fu nre generations, as they are, and ever have been, upon us and our ancestors, from time immemorial. Let the elements re-unite, and form a better and a nobler race, to whom war, famine, slavery and inequality shall be unknown.'

BURIED FOR TWO THOUSAND YEARS .- Lord Lindsay, in his travels, writes, that while wandering amid the pyramids of Egypt, he stumbled on a mummy proved by its hieroglyphics, to be at least two thousand years of age. In examining the mummy, after it was unwrapped, he found in one of its enclosed hands a tuberous or bulbus root. He was interested in the question how long vegetable life could last, and he, therefore, took that tuberous root from the mummy's hand, planted it in a sunny soil, allowed the rains and dews of heaven to descend upon it, and in the course of a few weeks, to his astonishment and joy, the root burst forth and bloomed into a beau-

The Pittsburgh Mercury, recording the marriage of Miss Holmes, President of the Martha Washington Total Abstinence Society, to Mr. Andrew Horn, appends the following:

DR. MARTIN'S Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry.

This Compand is one of the best remedies ever offered to the public in Conghs, whether arising from Colds, or the Whooping Cough, of that dreadful malady, Consumption. Few remedies, in the short time it has been before the public, have effected so many cures. The proprietors are every day receiving orders for it at a distance, and The propietors are every day receiving orders for it at a distance, and in this tity, in which they have been highly gratified to learn its good effects. The Blishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Maryland, (the Rt. Rev. W. R. Whitingham.) has authorized us to say be has used it in his own person with decided benefit; and our medical friends do not scruple to recommend it as one of the best remedies in Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, &c., which they have ever met with. The following is from a highly respectable Physician on Kent Island, whom we made acquainted with the preparation:

**Kent Island, (Md.) Jane 22, 1847.**
